Speaking Of Happy

Web Documentary Channel

Speaking of Happy is a virtual outlet documenting the amazing stories of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and questioning or queer (GLBTQ) people and their community allies! These stories will be part interview, encompassing stories from all walks of life, and part real world as we follow these courageous people in their every day lives. We will hear from their family and friends about who they are in the community and share with you their trials and triumphs!

News & Entertainment Programming

Along with our mini documentaries we're producing a half hour news and entertainment show. This show will focus specifically on what is happening within the GLBTQ & Ally community. From community events to political action plus you'll meet local GLBTQ owned & operated & GLBTQ friendly businesses. There is nothing like it available in Omaha! Speaking of Happy is also publishing an online GLBTQ Magazine.
